Sharpshooters Take Championship Titles

Two national rifle championships for four sharpshooting youngsters of the Great Lakes Junior Rifle Club have been announced by the National Rifle Association.

A record breaking 1485x1600 score earned the national sub-junior (under 14) title for Ted and Viola Couch, Don Heister and John Wadsworth. Ted, one of the youngest smallbore masters in NRA history, also won the individual sub-junior crown with a 381x400 score.

All sons and daughters of Navy and Marine Corps personnel at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, the junior sharpshooters are coached by Marine Corps Captain Wallace Couch.

Announced by the NRA in Washington, D. C. on June 21, the titles were actually won during regional matches at the Lincoln Rifle Club near Springfield, on April 1.

The sub-junior national titles go each year to top shooters among hundreds of teams entered in regional matches held throughout the nation. Scores are sent to Washington and the NRA announces the national winners.

Great Lakes shooters won every first place in the Lincoln matches as club members shot their way to three team and four individual titles.

Similar performances have been given in every match entered by the Great Lakes juniors. Although established only one year ago, the club now holds nine national team, women's and junior records. A high of 82 trophies and medals were won in the 1962 Southtown Junior Rifle Tournament in Chicago.

Viola, 12, became the youngest Illinois State Woman's Smallbore Rifle champion in history when she won the title this year. She also is a member of the Illinois All-State Girls Rifle Team that will fire in national matches at Camp Perry, O., this summer.

Ted, just turned 14, fired a 381x400 to win his national title. The pacesetter for the Great Lakes club, he has been shooting since he was 4½. His 1962 honors include sparking his team to second place in the National Postal Junior Rifle matches, winning the grand aggregate individual championship of Chicago's annual Southtown Junior Rifle Tournament, and earning a place on the Illinois All-State Boys Rifle team.

Don Heister, 12, had never fired a gun before joining the Great Lakes Junior club a year ago. He and John Wadsworth, 13, have been consistent high scorers for the club. Both won individual titles in the Chicago Junior Rifle League competition, helped the club win second place in the Postal competition, and have contributed to a near sweep of honors in other matches.

University of Illinois Graduate College was established in 1907, though graduate work has been offered since 1874.

Track Safety Record Better

Is the long famed Corner 12 (Canada Corner) losing its reputation as the "hairiest" of Road America's many corners?

That's the safety trend which appears to be in the making after a survey of the numerous "incidents" reported for the 1962 International June Sprints. The No. 12 corner is still where more occurrences are reported than any other—but nine per cent less mishaps were noted there than a year ago.

The reason probably lies in the work which was done there since the 1961 Sprints. Hay bales were moved back considerably and the gravel shoulder extended to permit drivers much more leeway in cornering emergencies.

Here are the figures on the colorful Canadian location:

In 1961, 30 per cent of the reported incidents took place there—28 out of 90 phoned-in mishaps to the press room; in 1962, 21 per cent of the course's trouble was reported there, out of 86 occurrences.

These were not so much mechanical troubles as spin-outs, pullouts, metal-to-metal contact, flips, etc.

Just as corners 12, 5 and 8 produced the most such incidents a year ago, so the three spots were ranked 1-2-3 this June. In 1961, they accounted for 60 per cent of the reported troubles; this year, they saw 62 per cent of the woes encountered during six national championship Sports Car Club of America races—and the eight per cent drop is attributable directly to No. 12's increased safety factor.

No. 12 is a sharply angled right turn near the end of the four-mile course, just after coming out of a long, mildly bending speed stretch; No. 5 is the sharp left turn in the middle of the course, also immediately after a full-throttle strip; and No. 8 is the deceptively tight turn coming out of the Hurry Downs section just before entering the RA Carousel.

Of the 205 cars which actually started the six weekend races, 143 were still running at the finish.

Antioch Bowl Re-Opens

The Antioch Bowl re-opened on Sunday, July 1, with part of the remodeling of the interior of the building completed, and work on the new addition progressing rapidly.

Proprietor Jack Sampayo says they expect the addition, housing eight new alleys, to be completed by September 15.

New ball returns and score tables have already been installed in the older portion of the building. All of the new furnishings are of modern design in flame, silver and black.

The new score tables are of flared design, enabling two scorers to use the pads comfortably without "bumping elbows." Below the ash tray on each score table is a diagram of the pins.

Air hand dryers are at the end of each ball return.

The new seats for bowlers are in semi-circular design, seating nine comfortably. Spectator seats are connected individual seats, of the same design as scorer's chairs.

New sweeps have been installed on the pin-setting mechanism, and new masking units over the pins will be in gray, black and flame. The first and second balls will be indicated by small lighted triangles at upper right and left of the masking unit.

The new scorer's tables are positioned at the end of the ball returns, giving the scorer a clear view of the pins at all times.

New enlarged locker and wash rooms will be installed, also a new and larger lunchroom.

The new portion of the building, with eight alleys, will have underlaid ball returns, with a Lazy Susan, circular ball rack.

The west wall of the old portion of the building will be ripped out, and four posts will be installed where was formerly the west wall.

Safe Boating Tips Given by Red Cross

President Kennedy has proclaimed the week beginning July 1st as "Safe Boating Week," and the American Red Cross hopes boaters will be "Safe Boating Conscious" all season.

There is no treat like owning a boat, but there is a trick to staying alive afloat. Learning to handle a boat in constantly changing conditions of wind, tide and currents is of utmost importance.

More than 8,000,000 small boats, most of them powered, will be on America's waterways this summer with 40,000,000 persons as passengers.

Waukegan's Fire Chief Norman Litz, Lake County's Red Cross Chairman for Water Safety, recommends the following precautions to make your boating safe and enjoyable:

1. Check U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts before going on open water.

2. Have life jackets and other equipment as required by federal and state regulations. For safe boating have an anchor, compass, charts, fire extinguisher, extra line, spare oar, tool kit, first aid kit and hook.

3. Equip your boat with running lights if on the water after dark.

4. Don't overload your boat—for a small boat keep two-thirds the boat's depth above the water line amidship.

5. Don't overpower your outboard boat. Check your boat's limitations.

6. Don't smoke while refueling.

7. Always wear a life jacket if you can't swim.

8. Stay with your boat if it capsizes. Most boats float, even if filled with water. Exceptions to staying with the boat: if you are near a waterfall or heavy surf, or in cold water.

9. A good boater is a courteous boater. Observing the "rules of the road" makes for safe boating.

Search For Civil War Manuscripts

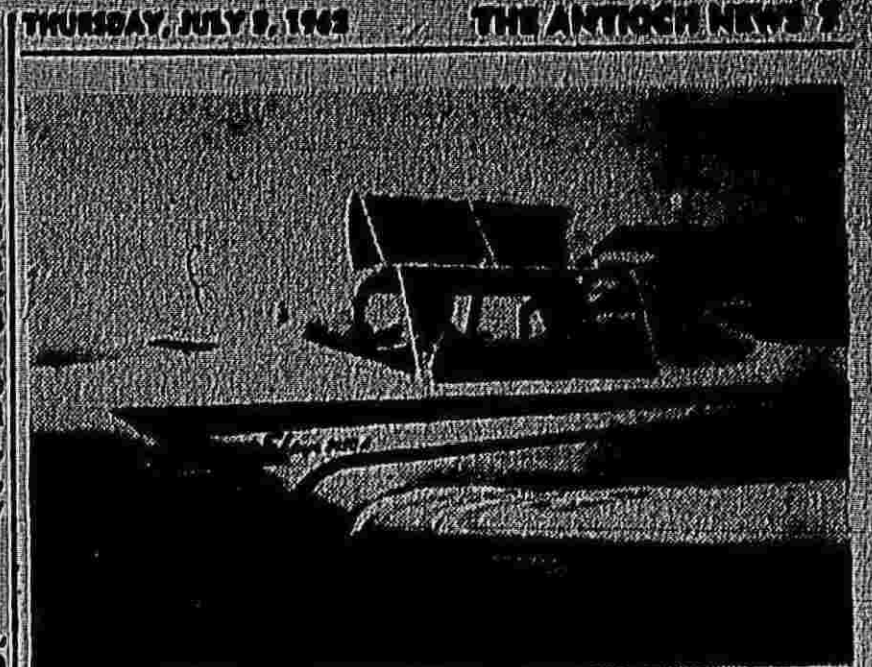

Launching of a statewide search for Civil War manuscripts by the Civil War Centennial Commission of Illinois has been announced by Clyde C. Walton, Illinois State Historian and secretary of the commission.

It is hoped that one of the state's contributions to the centennial observances will be a listing of all Civil War material owned by public institutions and in private hands in Illinois.

The commission is interested in learning of the existence of Civil War letters, diaries and photographs of soldiers or civilians. But, at present, it is not searching for printed books, pamphlets, magazines, newspapers, or discharge papers, Walton explained.

Photographs of soldiers or scenes in Illinois during the Civil War would add a tangible element to an already fascinating period of American history, Walton said.

The commission secretary asks persons having Civil War manuscripts to notify him at the Illinois State Historical Library, Centennial Building, Springfield. They should give a brief description of the material, including names, dates and a summary of the contents.

Food Prices to Hold Steady Over Holiday

The mid-week holiday shut down momentarily disrupts food supply movements, temporarily causing a build-up and cost-breaking in fresh produce, and a shortage and cost-climb in meats and poultry. This spot situation has little if any retail reflection in terms of prices.

The U. of I. consensus value list for the marketing period ending July 7 includes: Meats—ground beef, steaks, lunchmeats, pork, steaks and chops; Poultry—fryers, large eggs and turkey. Produce—sweetcorn, lettuce, radishes, cucumbers, cantaloupe, oranges, peaches, lemons and grapes.

The mark-time character of the market provides an opportunity to take a longer term outlook. During the next two months general consumer prices on many basic items are expected to increase slightly. Total food supplies are slightly greater than year-ago, but lighter-weight dressed kinds more prevalent. The usual summer price decline has set in, but not as much as year-ago.

Pork supplies are seasonally short but the total is above year-ago. Cows are falling on the smaller volume, coincident with a summer slackened demand.

Fryer production is below last year, farmers currently averaging 14¢ a pound for birds. At this level, ready to cook fryers "laid in" at retail cost a little over 25¢. Chicago store quotes aimed at feature attention range 25-27¢, up to a general competitive 35¢ level.

Turkeys are influenced by an excess of 10,500,000 lbs. in storage over last year, a new crop cut-back of about 15%, and a hold-back by suppliers. This increased cost 1/2¢, pushing the wholesale delivered price to an average 32¢. Retailers quote frozen turkeys within a 35-45¢ range.

Egg costs dropped this week. Despite continuing heavier than last year production, general declining seasonal volume firmed the market. Retailers could move ahead of current 39-45¢ quotes for Grade A large.

In fresh produce, situations are little changed from previous reports. Home grown lines improve the seasonal outlook in many instances. Celery and potatoes are two notable problems, scarce and high priced. Spring potato tonnage is down 20%, storage stocks of crop potatoes are wiped out. Retail prices are expected to hold high for six weeks or so.

Prices are firm for better quality peaches. The south's early season freeze damage cut the crop from year ago levels by 23%. Despite this, peaches still rate high as a consumer value.

Pears and grapefruit supplies are less than year-ago, oranges, lemons and sweet cherries better supplied than last year.

Make certain the brake lights on your car are in good working order, advises the Chicago Motor Club. This is the best way you have of warning motorists behind you when you are stopping or slowing down. If you find your brake lights are not working, use hand signals until you can have them repaired.

By E. J. Lueder
County 4-H Club Agent

The Seneca Kenosha County 4-H Dairy Judging team won the District contest held in Madison on June 28. Team members are Catherine Sherman, Kenneth Gillmore, Kenneth Halbach, and Carol Venovic.

The team now has the right to compete with three other state winning teams from other districts for the honor of representing Wisconsin in the 4-H Dairy Judging contest at the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, or the International Dairy Show in Chicago.

Second place team was from Walworth county and third place, Jefferson.

The Kenosha team was high in Holstein judging. Carol Venovic was high individual in the contest and Kenneth Gillmore, fourth high.

Carol Venovic was also high individual in Jersey and Brown Swiss. Kenneth Halbach was second high in Holsteins.

The Kenosha Junior team placed fifth in the junior division.

Bears Picked For Zoo Home

No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3, three little American Black Bear cubs, born in the Lincoln Park Zoo in February, have been chosen as Chicago Park District Animal of the Month for July.

The American Black Bear is known scientifically as Ursus americanus. It is the smallest of the North American bears and is found in the coniferous forests. The Black Bear weighs up to 600 pounds and, when standing, will attain a height up to six feet.

The life expectancy of the Black Bear is from 15 to 20 years. It lives on a diet of both animal and vegetable foods. During the winter it does not hibernate but rather rests in a semi-dormant condition. Cubs, from one to four are born usually in January, and they weigh about eight ounces. The cubs leave the den sometime in March or April at which time their weight has increased to about five pounds; they remain with the mother through the first fall. The cubs are excellent climbers but the adult bear is not so adept as the young one. Bears are unpredictable animals.

Little One, Two and Three, two females and one male cub, are now housed in the new outdoor section of the Children's zoo at Lincoln Park Zoo, which will be open soon to the public.

Workshop For New Officials

At a meeting of the commission to Study County Problems held in Springfield June 28, for representatives of nine central Illinois counties, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois proposed that the Commission and the Federation jointly sponsor workshops for newly elected county officials. The workshops to be held between election day in November and oath taking day in December.

At its recent meeting, Maurice W. Scott, Executive Secretary, Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, pointed out that at each general election for county officers some officials are elected for the first time whose experience may

Coaches of the teams are: Roger Sherman, Randall, and Gene Halbach, Bristol.

Charles Knigge, Star Harmony 4-H Club, participated in the Dairy Demonstration contest held at the same time. He won first place in the senior division.

Police Chiefs Outline Burglar Preventives

The week starting July 1st has been set aside by the Governor and the Illinois Police Association as Burglar Prevention Week.

James Bambrick of the Cook County Highway Police and President of the Illinois Police Association urges all Illinois citizens to exercise care and planning to prevent burglars from entering their homes whether they're away for an evening or vacation. Although preventing burglaries is a year round job, said Bambrick, this is the season when homeowners make it easy for prowlers and burglars. This, he stated is because windows and doors are left open more frequently; and because it's also the height of the vacation season when people go off without a second thought of taking a few simple precautions to safeguard their homes.

Burglary Every 39 Seconds Anyone who leaves his home for 39 seconds could have it burglarized. That's the national average, said James Bambrick. Last year, unofficial figures indicate there were 887,000 burglaries committed. Or, to put it another way, out of every 9 major crimes committed, 4 are household burglaries. And burglary is big business—it amounts to more than 150 million dollars in losses every year! Nighttime is preferred by most burglars because the chances of being seen are much less. Even if he should be observed, making a positive identification of him is difficult because of the poor light. That's why one or two lights should be left burning in the house during the evening hours when you're away. Lights left on in your home will tend to discourage most would-be burglars who are looking for a residence where the family is obviously away.

Bambrick has suggested that a few dollars invested in some safety devices could mean thwarting a burglary attempt and returning to your home and valuables, just as you left them!

Locks are one assurance that'll slow down any burglar, if not discourage him completely. Most homes have good locks on their front doors, but often a flimsy device that can be opened with a hairpin or skeleton key on the rear and basement entrances. Substantial pin-tumbler cylinder locks should be installed on all outside entrances. Don't protect your $20,000 home with a $1.00 lock!

Safety latches are another good investment and should also be installed on all windows—that are usually open. These devices enable a window to be opened sufficiently for ventilation, but not wide enough for someone to crawl through.

To fool the would-be prowler, a free booklet entitled "Heart Disease Caused by Coronary Atherosclerosis" is available from the Heart Council of Lake County, Citizens National Bank Building, 210 Washington St., Waukegan.

er who may be canvassing the neighborhood looking for a dark house, an automatic timer should be connected to a lamp in the home. In the evening, this device will turn the lamp "on", then turn it "off" several hours later, creating the appearance someone is home. Since burglars prefer to work in the dark, light is an effective deterrent that may mean the prowler will pass your home in favor of a more likely spot down the street.

Notify Police When Leaving on Vacation

When leaving on a vacation, be sure to advise your local police department as to how long you expect to be away. Most apartments keep a file on empty homes and will check them periodically every day. It's also a good idea to tell them where a key may be obtained in your absence and where you may be reached in the event of an emergency.

Don't forget to call the daily cleaners, newspaper, etc., to stop any deliveries that might be made during your absence. (Or, arrange to have your newspaper forwarded to your vacation spot to keep up on all the local happenings.) Talk to your postman or a neighbor to hold your mail until you return. A bulging mail box is an indication the family is away. Also, ask your neighbor if he'll look after things in your absence—sweep your sidewalk, pick up circulars that may be left on your porch, feed your pet, etc.

Don't close those curtains or blinds completely. Closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for burglars. Be sure you do not leave cash lying around, keep it in a bank; it's also a good idea to place securities and other valuables in a safety deposit box.

Bambrick urges everyone to think before leaving their homes. The F.B.I. reports $183 is the average loss in each burglary. It could be more and you could be the next victim. Be sure you are doing everything you can to discourage a burglar from picking your home or apartment as his next target.

Where Does So-And-So Live? Everyone Knows

By Jay Nash

A recent journey to Oak Park, Illinois, last Sunday proved to be most enlightening while I searched for the boyhood home of one Ernest Hemingway.

After a maddening drive from the Loop, I was told by what appeared to be a civil war veteran walking jauntily down the street that I was "not in Oak Park. River Forest. That's where we are, sonny. River Forest."

I continued to drive on through Oak Park. Alighting from the car, I noticed another elderly gentleman walking down the opposite side of Marion Street. Approaching him, I asked,

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Yance, Gregory and Kendall, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hollister, Carol and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wienke and David. Afternoon guests were Hollis Wienke, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Smith, Sherry and Gerry, and Pat.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marcussen announce the birth of a son, June 3. He will answer to the name of Jeffrey Allan.

Mrs. Elsie Elverman, Fred Riemann, Mrs. Gust Neuman and Charlene Elverman attended the wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Al Jette Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Swartz, Fox Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Neuman and Fred Riemann, Mrs. Virginia Thom and sons, Paul and Michael moved into the Mike Seitz home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frank and Madeline Friedhoff spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bauman, Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarnstorff, Sr., accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarnstorff, Jr., and Dennis to East Troy Sunday.

Mrs. Pascal Allen, Green Valley, Ill., spent a few days with Misses Grace and Emilie Carey.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jahns, Mrs. Virginia Thom and sons, Paul, Michael, Robert and Merlin Jahns, Harold Elverman, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Neuman and, Fred Riemann were Sunday guests of Elsie Elverman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarnstorff, Sr., spent a recent Saturday with the Clifford Schalls.

Elsie Elvermann attended the funeral of Mrs. William Kaskin, at St. John's Lutheran church, Slader Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Richmond spent a recent Sunday with the Alex Schuberts.

Mrs. Floyd Gyger, Sr., Mrs. Herman Frank, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Dan Fleming, John attended a picnic at the home of Mrs. Violet Schroeder, Ingleside, Ill., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Pacey spent Thursday evening at the Harvey Brooks home, Lake Villa.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Welgel, LaCrosse, and Mrs. Mildred Curtiss, Kenosha, called at the George Higgins home, recently.

Mrs. Edith Gifford, Madison, called on Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins and they all attended the Gifford family reunion at Genoa City Sunday (June 24).

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt, Ft. Atkinson, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Wertz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gifford, Genoa City, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins.

Would you be good enough to tell me where the Hemingway home is?

"I'll not only tell you, I'll show you." We walked along together until we came to a dilapidated house, its windows covered with ugly warped boards and the yard looking like an unkempt jungle. "That's the place," he stated in a wrathful voice.

"This one here all boarded up and looking like a mess. That's the old Hemingway estate. A public disgrace, that's what it is. A public disgrace!" He pointed out the coach house and the upper part of the house and earnestly pointed rooms at the top of the house.

"And there's the coach house. The drive. The drive. All of it—live there. A public disgrace!" He hurried off down the street leaving me to gaze at the shame of the Hemingway home. I walked upon the creaking front stairs and admired the probably once fashionable porchway with its sweeping veranda and root-meared pillars.

All about the house and grounds, homes stood resplendent in the sun, grasses were cut trim, trees pruned, sidewalks immaculate. In the middle of this neat suburb stood the blight on the apparent Hemingway past. Sadly I inspected the grounds. Once, in the rear of the house, a high-pitched voice shouted down to me from one of the coach house windows. "Can I help you?" "No, thanks," I exclaimed as authoritatively as possible. "Just looking over the old Hemingway estate."

"Hemingway estate? That's not the Hemingway estate," "What?"

"The Hemingway estate," the woman who lived in the coach house said, "is a block down. Got a white picket fence around it. Some other folks live there now."

Down the block I went. On the corner stood a Victorian home with the white picket fence around it. A clean-looking house, it still showed time and wear. At least, I thought, this one is not a "public disgrace."

Nevertheless, I attempted to confirm the fact that this was the Hemingway home. An elderly woman sweeping out the driveway stated: "We moved in here 19 years ago. We were told that this was the old Hemingway house. But then Oak Leaves (the village newspaper) came out last year and said it was somewhere else. I always thought he lived here. I always thought the round room facing the other street was the one he wrote about but now they tell me he lived somewhere else."

Somewhat disgruntled, I continued my journey and finally, after several more Oak Parkers were good enough to show me the way (and they will every time) I discovered the home on Kenilworth Avenue.

My only advice at this stage would be to anyone seeking the home of famous men you start with the White House in Washington. You can't miss it. It's the one with the picture window and the red brick. There's a horse being tethered on the back lawn.

CORN DISEASE DECREASING

Stewart's disease, or bacterial wilt, of corn probably will be less destructive and will not occur as far north in the state in the summer of 1962 as in the summer of 1961.

Little or no wilt is expected in commercial canning corn in the northern half of Illinois.

This forecast, the 14th an-tion of the fact that this was the Hemingway home. An elderly woman sweeping out the driveway stated: "We moved in here 19 years ago. We were told that this was the old Hemingway house. But then Oak Leaves (the village newspaper) came out last year and said it was somewhere else. I always thought he lived here. I always thought the round room facing the other street was the one he wrote about but now they tell me he lived somewhere else."

On the Mend.

Lou Harcey went back to work last Monday, June 25, after being in the hospital 17 days and home a week. Lou had a slipped disc in his knee, after sliding in the ball game between the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst Businessmen on Decoration Day.

As if that wasn't enough trouble for the family, their son, Lou, (Butch), fell and cut his tongue, knocked out two teeth and scratched his face quite badly when a bicycle he was riding came apart, while the family were visiting friends in Fox Lake Hills. The bike was brand new.

Operation.

Donald Bogda was operated on Tuesday morning at Victory Memorial Hospital.

Ed, Bill and I drove down to Springfield last Wednesday and stayed in New Salem over night. We visited the home of Abraham Lincoln, the Capitol, Lincoln's Tomb, New Salem State Park with 21 restored log cabins, and the grave of Ann Rutledge.

At the Capitol we wondered where Gov. Kerner was at 2:30 p.m. His parking spot was vacant. When we arrived home, we found he had been in Deerfield cutting ribbons. (Well, it's better than cutting out paper dolls.)

We hope to go to Savannah this week so I may have a little story about our trip there, next week.

New Baby.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riedeman are receiving congratulations on the birth of their daughter, Caroline Ann. The little lady made her entrance at Victory Memorial Hospital, June 25. She tipped the scales at 8 1/2 pounds when she arrived at 4:42 a.m.

Movie.

The film "Kelly and Me" with Van Johnson, Piper Laurie and Martha Hyer will be shown at the Lindenhurst Civic Center Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The picture is in color.
